Without Compromise

Come and experience the road legal track day car for the 21st Century in the Supercar Showcase at London On-Water 2017

This June (8th-11th), the historic St Katharine Docks in Central London will once again play host to London On-Water, London’s No.1 On-Water Boat Show & Festival.

For the third year running, visitors to the event will be able to see a wide range of boats and yachts, from dinghies to luxury yachts and everything in between, in their natural habitat – on the water.

However, this year London On-Water 2017 offers more. Much, much more!

Starting on Thursday 8th June at 11am, visitors will be able to enter the land-based sections of the Show free of charge and see a fantastic festival of Boats, Boating Equipment, Yachting Holidays and Charters, and Yachting Services, all in the event’s Mariner’s Village located on Marble Quay next to the famous Dickens Inn.

Then, immediately next to that, visitors will be able to follow and cheer on Sir Ben Ainslee’s attempt to win the America’s Cup on a BIG outdoor screen, screened LIVE from Bermuda.

If that wasn’t enough, another wonderful part of the Show, The Supercar Showcase, will amaze every car lover. Here a range of fabulous Ferraris, Lamborghinis and McLarens, plus custom-built Landrovers and Range Rovers will stand side-by-side with Tesla’s latest models and the beautifully stylish Fiat 500 ‘Riva’ and 124 Spider. Not to be outdone, lovers of AC Cobras will absolutely love the ‘AK 247’ supercar, while we are delighted to present the extraordinary ‘Elemental RP1’, the road legal track day car for the 21st Century.

After enjoying a glass of the super Salcombe Gin and perhaps lunch at some of the many wonderful restaurants, pubs and cafés that surround the Show, go and visit the wonderful boats and yachts on the water. For just £5, in support of RYA Sailability, guests can visit the marina pontoons and experience a wide range of boats from the thrilling X-Dinghies to the latest luxury yachts from Britain’s top luxury yacht builders, such as Oyster, Princess, Trader, Fairline and Prestige, as well as the world-exploring Nordhavn 76, the quite astonishing ‘Glider’ and the chance to meet explorer and TV presenter Ben Fogle and the awesome Sunus ‘Spectre R32’ in which he plans to try and break the Round Great Britain powerboat record this summer!

Then to relax during the afternoon, why not enjoy a drink and nibbles with your friends at the relaxing ‘Dream Yacht Charter Bar’, a floating pontoon bar in the Central Basin with the City of London, sunshine on the water and Tower Bridge as a backdrop. What could be better.

Come and see us at London’s No.1 On-Water Boat Show between Thursday 8th – Sunday 11th June, for four super days to remember.

We look forward to meeting you.

London On-Water Returns To Iconic St Katharine Docks For Its Third Glorious Year

A stone’s throw from Tower Bridge and The Tower of London, St. Katharine Docks, central London’s only marina, is hosting London On-Water, London’s No.1 floating yachting and boating festival, where yachts and boats can be seen and experienced in their natural element - on the water!

London On-Water returns for its third year over four days and will present yachts and boats from luxury yachts to RIBs and everything in-between.

Several fantastic new features - including a Mariner’s Retail Village on Marble Quay, live screening of the America’s Cup on a big screen, a Supercar Showcase, Ben Fogle’s round-Britain record attempt powerboat and the opportunity to pre-book to take a boat for a spin on the River Thames, together with fine cafés and restaurants - will ensure that London On-Water 2017 really will be an event to enjoy for everyone, for salty sea dogs and landlubbers alike!
The fantastic main feature of London On-Water will be the magnificent display of the latest luxury yachts and boats for sale, both motor and sail, from the world’s top yacht building brands. Each vessel will be available to visitors to view and explore on-board, with luxury yachts and boats to suit every kind of yachting enthusiast, from the occasional weekend sailor to full ocean-going aficionados, plus one or two stunning surprises as well! A delight for every boating enthusiast and even the opportunity to try them out on the water as visitors will be able book a time slot with the exhibitors to take their dream boat for a spin down the Thames during all four days of the Show.

Among the new features this year will be a chance to watch the thrills and spills of the America’s Cup as it happens. With a big screen positioned on Marble Quay next to the famous Dicken’s Inn, London On-Water 2017 will be a fabulous place for workers and residents in London to gather for some great on-water action, screened live from Bermuda!

Those who prefer to keep their feet firmly on land, or at least on a pedal, are not forgotten with a wide range of stunning supercars and prestige cars from Ferraris to E-Type Jaguar Roadsters, on Marble Quay - a superb spectacle at the event.
Show visitors will be able to see the extraordinary Spectre 32R to be raced by SUNUS Ocean Racing, their factory offshore powerboat team, along with Ben Fogle, the well-known TV personality and explorer. This is also the same boat that Tom drove for Amazon Prime’s hit TV show The Grand Tour. The boat was involved in Jeremy Clarkson’s show where with Richard Hammond on board, the 800HP, 32ft race machine disturbed the peace of Venice, and, with its wake, purposefully threw Clarkson and May into the water. Both Ben and Tom will be at London On-Water 2017 to show visitors the boat.

The fabulous Mariner’s Village will present an eclectic range of nautical and other items, including marine clothing and fashions, electronics, general chandlery, holidays afloat and even a selection of wonderful gins and champagnes (with interesting new ideas on what you can do with them!) - all be available to try and buy on the quayside. A superb place to spend an hour or five!

Having undergone a careful refurbishment, St Katharine Docks is a thriving waterside community of leading companies, brands and restaurants and is popular with Londoners and visitors alike. This historic waterside haven is the perfect place to spend time looking at all the wonderful yachts and boats at London On-Water with visitors able to enjoy St Katharine Docks’ wide selection of restaurants, bars and pubs offering a tantalising selection of food and beverages.

The Dickens Inn is an original warehouse building near Tower Bridge, Tower of London and the Shard. As an original warehouse building, it’s thought to have housed tea or to have been owned by a local brewery. It certainly existed at the turn of the 18th century and may well have been born in the 1700s. During the early years as a pub ‘The Tavern Bar’ used to feature sawdust-strewn floors and no bottled or canned beer was stocked. Diners also enjoyed candlelit meals on the balconies; this practice has been phased out due to modern fire safety regulations!

The Dickens Inn is now one of the most famous and most successful pubs on The River Thames, loved by locals and tourists alike. Famous visitors to the venue have included Joan Rivers and Katie Melua.

With the addition of a large function suite, The Dickens Inn can now cater for parties from 4 to 150 for any occasion imaginable.

One critic described The Dickens Inn as

“The most atmospheric spot in the whole of London”.

This year at London On-Water 2017, show visitors will be able to see the extraordinary Spectre 32R to be raced by SUNUS Ocean Racing, their factory offshore powerboat team.

Later this year the boat will be used by TV personality and seasoned adventurer, Ben Fogle alongside powerboat racing veteran, Tom Montgomery-Swan, as they attempt to break the world record for the fastest circumnavigation of the British Isles in a boat - a 2000 mile non-stop challenge with a team goal of finishing the route in under 60 hours!

This is also the same boat that Tom drove for Amazon Prime's hit TV show, The Grand Tour where, with Richard Hammond on board, the race machine disturbed the peace of Venice, and, with its wake, purposefully threw Clarkson and May into the water.

The SUNUS Ocean Racing 32R is based upon the Spectre range of powerboats, designed from the original British Phantom design. Now using the latest build techniques and engine technology, these are high-performance grand tourers, capable of 100mph whilst still having a full double bed and two sofas in the forward cabin.

Both Ben and Tom will be at London On-Water 2017 to show visitors the boat
The Spectre 32R is the UK’s fastest production leisure craft, capable of 100mph. This race version by SOR has recently broken two national speed records on Coniston Water, being awarded Donald Campbell’s Silver Star.
Sailing is open to everyone, no matter what age or disability. It’s the perfect sport to feel tranquillity and freedom on the water, or something more adrenalin fuelled and competitive.

Sailability is the RYA’s national programme enabling people with disabilities to try sailing and get out on the water on a regular basis.

For David Durston, who uses a wheelchair following an accident it’s all about the independence.

“Going out on a lake by myself, when I spend so much time with a carer and surrounded by others, it gives me a sense of purpose. I can go out on a boat be completely in control, be completely independent.”

For Emma Dakin, who has been blind since she was a baby, it is the ability to solve problems and pass on her enthusiasm to others.

“I enjoy being at the club, I love sailing, and I know what it takes for people to achieve what they are capable of. When I help put the boats away I use my feet to feel the edge of the pontoon. In my early days the club might have been horrified I was so close to the edge, but through communication they now trust me. I hope I can make the routes for other blind sailors easier”

The Alpha-Centauri is the first luxury hydroplane to enter the leisure market, albeit at the top end! Until now hydroplanes have been restricted to being developed as racing boats; the light, fast motor boats designed to skim over the surface of water with ease and style, intended to get the adrenaline pumping!

Indeed, much like Ferruccio Lamborghini brought the first non-racing mid-engine car to market in the form of the Miura, the 8.3m Alpha-Centauri luxury hydroplane has been designed primarily as a toy, superyacht tender or fun rib alternative.

“if you like your thrills on the extreme edge”

Powered by a 9.4l big block chevy with power options from 550 to 2000hp (if you like your thrills on the extreme edge!), the Alpha-Centauri prototype is in the middle with 750hp and over 1000nm of torque.

The engine is coupled to a Scott twin-stage sprint jet which can rev up to 6k rpm, giving a maximum top speed of 60 knots and brutal acceleration.

The hull is made using cellular sandwich composite construction, with a stainless steel space frame giving high rigidity and low weight at just 1650kg.

Designed with computational fluid dynamics software this hull gives an exceptionally low coefficient of drag.

Inside, the four bucket seats, Raymarine navigation, digital dashboard and a sound system by Rockford Fosgate, are located in an ergonomically sculpted dashboard and centre console with inset laser cut stainless steel panels.

It’s impractical, inefficient and terrifying. And highly desirable.

The production boats are for sale from £120k with orders being taken for 2017.

Appearing at London on water this year is Blue Lamp Afloat, an RYA Training centre based permanently within St Katharine Docks.

Specialising in power boat training, the centre can also provide other practical and shore-based courses. Most popular by far is the Level 2 Powerboat, which allows customers to qualify for their International Certificate of competence. However, the team is proud of the fact that they can also offer the intermediate, advanced and even the Tender Operators course.

Blue Lamp also offers own boat tuition providing training to berth holders and marina staff.

Now in its second year at St Katharine Docks, running the centre is the responsibility of its principal Colin Trowles, an instructor from an RNLI background with over 16 years training experience. He was trained by the best, so with his small team of experienced and enthusiastic instructors they aim to deliver the best in training to their customers.

Borrow a Boat - the UK’s first peer-to-peer boat charter company - has launched a new platform which will bring thousands of boat owners and boating enthusiasts from across the world together.

Billed as ‘the Airbnb for Boats’, Borrow a Boat currently offers boat charterers over 4000 boats across 40 countries – from super luxury yachts to simple motor boats - and they aim to have over 10,000 boats later this year.

Founder Matt Ovenden says,

“the majority of private boats sit in the marinas or on a mooring for 90% of the year, costing owners thousands.

We want to change this by bringing owners and budding sailors, who don’t necessarily want to own a boat, together. It’s good for boats to be used regularly, and it can help them pay for themselves.

At the same time it brings more choice and better value to the charter market”

Passion.
This is the word that defines everything when we talk about Constantin Nautics. Passion for design, for accessories, passion for water sports and for everything that is handmade.

Starting with the process of choosing high quality materials from well know European manufacturers with decades of experience in producing sailing ropes, and continuing with the creation of the design and the testing of the products in various conditions: humidity, cold, warm, without losing their properties of colour, size and resistance.

We are more than grateful to those who, through their work, through their passion for high quality things, offer us such excellent products - products that are used by us and transformed through passion and worked into something highly appreciated by our customers.

We might not succeed in satisfying the taste and demands of all of our clients, but you can be absolutely sure that any mistake that we encounter in our activity will be nothing but another reason to overcome our limits and to improve what we do.

Keen to attract new people into boating, south coast marina operators Dean & Reddyhoff have launched the Spare RIB Club.

Using accessible and fun customised RIBs from Gemini Marine, Spare RIB Club members get one week afloat each month, with the Club handling all the maintenance and paperwork.

Boats are based at Dean & Reddyhoff marinas in the Solent and Dorset with direct access to some of the best boating in England, from creek-crawling to open waters. All members get a full day of training to build familiarity with the boat and the local area, and RYA courses are included for those needing a skills refresh.

Sharing a boat through the Spare RIB Club is the modern solution for busy people. All the pleasure of regular use of the same boat without the worries of ownership. Just as suitable for a group of friends wanting to share as for people with no boating networks - the Club handles everything, leaving members to simply turn up and turn the key.

The Spare RIB Club is a cost-effective first step on the way to full boat ownership. The boat is owned by Dean & Reddyhoff, and the time afloat shared equally between four members over two years. Membership is fully inclusive, with no hidden costs beyond fuel.

Michael Prideaux, Dean & Reddyhoff Managing Director says:

“One of our key aims as a company is to get more people out on the water and having fun, and we see RIBs as an accessible way to make this happen. The Spare RIB Club is our way to encourage more boating activity and to nurture the boat owners of the future.”

Dean & Reddyhoff have worked closely with Gemini Marine UK to produce a boat that pairs the safety and handling of Gemini’s professional rescue and patrol RIBs with the comforts and features that leisure users expect. The Club’s 6.5m custom RIB has a Mercury 150hp outboard, seating for 8 people and is fully equipped with electronics and safety gear.

We all know that there is a myriad of Supercars to choose from out there – and whether it is the first time you have entered this arena, or you are an aged veteran, there are still a few things that you should always consider.

Supercars are mainly manufactured in small numbers which helps to hold their residual value.

One of the main things to consider when narrowing your options is which model will suit my lifestyle? Do I want pure power and performance that I only use at weekends, or will it be required for my daily commute to work? Do I want a coupé or a convertible for those splendid summer days we have in the UK? There’s nothing more exhilarating than driving on the open road with the roof down.

Another factor is the car’s provenance. Leading supercar dealers, such as GC Motors, will have a select client database who take the utmost pride in owning their supercars. The models they retail are all compliant to a strict buying and selling policy with all the history recorded. When you can sell a £300,000 supercar to a customer who has never seen it, it is important that the car is in ‘tip-top’ condition with the full documented history to match.

Even for experienced supercar owners, buying a new supercar can still be a huge decision, but most importantly an enjoyable one. You may have had your current model for several years or change your vehicle two, three, even several times per year.

You could be a pure Ferrari fan, but that McLaren 675 LT just keeps on winking at you and saying, ‘Try me, I will surprise you!’

So, whether you are a first-time buyer or have previously owned several Supercars, the journey is pleasurable. With the help of a professional company like GC Motors by your side, you will be in good hands to help you make the right choice.

Not only is Glider Yachts’ game changing high speed luxury debut yacht, the SS18, a uniquely stunning yacht, but it achieves unsurpassed comfort and performance. This futuristic design is the work of fledgling British luxury manufacturer, Glider Yachts. The company has thrown out the old superyacht engineering rule-book and has created the future of luxury yachting right here in Britain.

Glider uses advanced superyacht technology and cutting-edge design utilising futuristic techniques more akin to Formula One and private jets, allowing Gliders to pierce straight through waves and glide over them rather than slam from wave to wave like conventional sports yachts, so you don’t spill a drop of Champagne.

Developed with cutting-edge technologies and rigorously tested and assessed by the worlds’ leading naval architects over an eight-year period led by lifelong sailor, Managing Director/Chief Designer, Robert McCall. The inspiration for Gliders originally came to Robert when he was a yacht captain of a wave piercing vessel in the Caribbean.

Never before has a superyacht tuned to sea conditions so that passengers can ‘glide’ over waves whilst cruising at high speeds and this is thanks to its highly advanced Stability Control System, a true revolution for the yacht world.

The SS18 is a powerful yacht that offers minimum noise levels and a ride that is not only breath-taking, but comfortable at cruising speeds of 50 knots, making it one of the world’s fastest yachts.

Kraken Yachts

Marble Quay

“passionate about life on the open sea”

Kraken Yachts Ltd has already made an impact with its new range of blue water cruising yachts.

Sales Director Mark Williams is using the London On-Water show to introduce the Kraken 50, Kraken 58 and Kraken 66 models to potential UK buyers and to international visitors who fly in to visit the show.

The first Kraken 50 has already been ordered and Kraken chairman Dick Beaumont’s Kraken 66 is afloat and sailing.

The Kraken range – designed by Kevin Dibley of leading New Zealand company Dibley Marine and built by long-established and multiple award-winning Hansheng Yachts – majors on blue water cruising. These semi-custom yachts are competitively priced and “built for purpose” - and this purpose is to cruise in great comfort and above all in safety.

Kraken’s unique Zero Keel™, for example, is so called because the lead ballast inside a streamlined keel bulb forms an integral part of the yacht. So there are zero bolts; meaning the keel cannot fall off. And – unlike many modern production yachts – Krakens have a robust and full depth integral skeg to protect the rudder from UFOs (unidentified floating objects that now litter the oceans).

Kraken chairman Dick Beaumont - who is currently cruising his Kraken 66 in the South China Sea – says, “Our new Zero Keel™ design answers the prayers of every blue water sailor. If you’ve ever got a cold shiver down your spine wondering what would happen if your keel fell off hundreds of miles from the coast, you can rest in your bunk secure in the knowledge that with a Kraken Yacht that can never happen.”

With popularity of the "northwest trawler"-style boat on the rise, Pacific Asian Enterprises (PAE) the designers and manufacturers of the Nordhavn range, set out to create a new, big modern passage-maker that fused this salty look with the advanced systems of the latest Nordhavns.

The result was the Nordhavn 76: developed for those yachtsmen who want an aft pilothouse boat which carries its shore boats on the foredeck. Like the venerable Nordhavn 62, the pilothouse of the N76 is set aft, carries its crane forward and can launch its shore boats off either the port or starboard side. Based on the hull form and specifications of the N72, the simple goal of this new model was to create a small superyacht which was true to the rugged ocean going heritage of other Nordhavns while at the same time stunning in her elegance, fit and finish, systems and engineering.

Nordhavn hope to welcome you aboard one of the Nordhavn fleets in the near future, the only way to fully appreciate these exceptional motor yachts. Who knows, you may soon become one of many owners who experience the unique pleasure of cruising where and when you choose.

With an uncompromising approach to quality, Salcombe Gin is produced by hand on a bespoke 450l traditional copper still and distilled using the one-shot distillation method according to the ‘London Dry’ standard, although with the addition of local sunshine, Devon Dry may be more apt!

Taking inspiration from historical trading routes, Salcombe Gin ‘Start Point’ is distilled from the finest English wheat spirit and pure soft Dartmoor water with a precise blend of thirteen botanicals including fresh ruby grapefruit, lemon and lime peels combined with Macedonian juniper and English coriander seeds for a lemon brightness. The result is a smooth, complex and perfectly balanced gin, strong enough to stand up well in a gin and tonic and fragrant and delicate enough for the ultimate martini.

With an unprecedented level of interest in this liquid spirit, Salcombe Distilling also provides the opportunity for the curious gin lover to develop and distil their own gin recipe on a mini copper still in their new gin school. Essentially a chemistry lesson for grown-ups, pupils are tutored in the art of distillation and create their own bottle of gin to take away with them with enough spirit left over for a celebratory G&T in the tasting bar.

Gaining an enviable reputation since its launch in 2016, Salcombe Gin is truly raising the bar for luxury hand-crafted spirits.

Going cruising, about to go cruising or thinking about going cruising? The Cruising Association is the biggest group of people doing just that – in fact there are getting on for 6,000 members enjoying pootling about in local rivers and estuaries or crossing oceans throughout the world.

The CA has been around for more than 100 years from the early days in 1908 when a group of yachtsmen got together to form a self-help association for the benefit of all members.

And while in the early days the members were all sailing folk, nowadays the CA’s membership is a mix of sailing and motorboating people who all have one thing in common – they love being on the water.

In the distant and recent past, membership of the CA has seen an average age group of people in their 60s – retiring, buying their dream boat and sailing off into the blue yonder. Nowadays that is changing. Average CA membership age is coming down each year as more and more people buy in their 40s and keep their boats somewhere with blue seas and sunshine. Travel is easy and relatively cheap so trips out to their boats can be inexpensive and frequent.

But what is the CA really all about?

The CA is a group of almost 6,000 people who enjoy going from A to B on the water. The CA’s patron Sir Robin Knox-Johnston summed it up:

“Whether you want to circle the globe or just enjoy the satisfaction of navigating yourself, friends and family safely and enjoyably from one place to another, I commend the Cruising Association to you.”

On the members’ website there are no less than 16,000 pages of cruising information on where to lay your boat up in the Baltic to sailing across Biscay to circling the Scottish distilleries to sandbank hopping up the east coast of England. There is also the list of hundreds of discounts available exclusively to members from up to 50% off berthing fees in marinas to chandlery to top of the market sailing clothing.

The main function of the CA is the exchange of information between members.

CA members also keep up to date on current regulations affecting boating – and have successfully lobbied different Governments on unfair taxes and charges.

The X0 and X1 are modern 21st century dinghies that are perfect for all city, lake and river sailing. Lightweight, simple to sail, highly manoeuvrable and exceptionally good in lower wind speeds, these are the qualities that make them ideal for those stretches of water closest to where many people live, where the wind can be very light and shifty….. like St Katharine Docks in fact!

If you live in the middle of a big city or you sail on inland ponds, lakes or rivers, and you want:

• A modern, high performance one-design boat
• Superb build quality and finish (with almost no maintenance requirements)
• Simple rigging and easy sailing
• A boat for 2 or 3 crew
• Amazing performance in even the lightest airs
• A spinnaker for extra speed and excitement

• Manoeuvrability in the dinghy park as well as afloat
• An enjoyable, rewarding experience

Then the X0 or the X1 could be for you!

We currently have X1 and X0s sailing in London and Hamburg.

Both boats will be on show in the main basin at St Katharine Docks.

Come and try a test sail!
The X0 and X1 are racing dinghies designed for sailing on almost any stretch of water imaginable, from lakes to rivers to reservoirs to estuaries. Between them they cover a very wide range of crew weights - from 125kg to 195kg and are suitable for sailors ranging from competent intermittent club sailors up to highly experienced championship level racers. They offer simplicity, versatility, modern design, exceptional standards of build quality, ultra low maintenance over a long lifetime and more sailing fun than you may have experienced to date in a boat that you can take anywhere. Lighter or less experienced crews will find the X0 comfortable, roomy, fast and very forgiving to sail with its ultra-modern carbon mast / square-top mainsail, while heavier and more experienced crews will relish the challenge and the power of the X1, together with its incredible performance in light winds. Both the X0 and X1 have enough space to take either two or three crew or, for fun, could take an adult and up to four small children. Please see XDinghies.com and check out the videos!
